An Introduction to Medicare

Medicare is a federal health insurance program for:

- People age 65 or older,
- Certain younger people with disabilities,
- Or, people of any age with End-Stage Renal Disease or ALS (amyotrophic lateral sclerosis)

Medicare can be complex! But understanding basics can help you choose the best Medicare option based on your healthcare needs.

1. Medicare basics

We tend to think about Medicare as a single program, but it is actually made up of 4 different parts that each provide certain types of coverage. There are 4 parts of Medicare: A, B, C, and D.

Original Medicare

Part A – Hospital insurance

Inpatient care in hospitals and skilled nursing facilities; hospice care, and some home health care.

Part B – Medical insurance

Doctor visits and other outpatient services; medicines given by a healthcare provider.

↓ You can add ↓

Medicare Supplement Insurance (Medigap)

You may also have the choice to sign up for Medicare Supplement Insurance (Medigap), which is private health insurance that can help pay some of the costs (“gaps”) that Original Medicare does not cover.

Prescription drug coverage

Part D

An optional benefit that helps cover the cost of prescription medicines and some recommended vaccines. Part D can be added to Original Medicare and some Medicare Advantage plans.

Medicare Advantage

Part C – Hospital and medical insurance

Part A and Part B offered by private health plans; most plans include prescription drug coverage. Some Part C plans provide extra benefits that may require an extra cost.

↓ You can add ↓

Prescription drug coverage

Part D

An optional benefit that helps cover the cost of prescription medicines and some recommended vaccines. Part D can be added to Original Medicare and some Medicare Advantage plans.

2. Comparing Original Medicare and Medicare Advantage

Out-of-pocket costs

Healthcare costs you pay on your own, such as deductible, co-pay, and co-insurance.

Add-ons

In addition to choosing Original Medicare or Medicare Advantage, you may have options for adding:

→ Medicare Supplement Insurance (Medigap) to Original Medicare only → Prescription drug coverage (Part D)

3. Medicare costs

Medicare helps with the cost of your care, but does not pay for all of it. In general, you will pay a portion of the costs – this is called “cost-sharing.”

Medicare Cost-sharing ¹⁻³
Premium	Deductible	Co-payment (“co-pay”) + Co-insurance
<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Medicare Part A is usually premium-free; most people pay $0 premium• Medicare Part B standard and income-adjusted premiums are published each year. In 2025 the standard premium is $185 each month (or higher depending on your income)• Medicare Advantage premiums vary by plan. You must also pay the Part B premium• Medicare Part D premiums vary by plan. You may also have to pay an extra amount each month if your income is over a certain amount	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Medicare Part A standard deductible is published each year. In 2025 the standard deductible was $1,676. This covers your share of costs for the first 60 days of Medicare-covered inpatient hospital care• Medicare Part B standard deductible is published each year. In 2025 the standard deductible is $257• Medicare Advantage deductibles vary by plan• Medicare Part D deductibles vary by plan; some plans don’t have a deductible	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Medicare Part A standard co-pays are published each year• Medicare Part B usually pays 80% and you pay 20% co-insurance; the percentage can vary by service• Medicare Advantage co-pays and co-insurance vary by plan. Plans also have a yearly limit on what you pay out-of-pocket. Once you pay the plan’s limit, the plan pays 100% for covered health services for the rest of the year• Medicare Part D co-pays or co-insurance vary by plan

¹Some Medigap plans can help pay deductibles, co-insurance, and co-pays for Medicare Part A and Part B. Medigap cannot be used to cover costs for Medicare Part C or Medicare Part D. Premiums for Medigap policies vary by plan and may even vary between insurance companies for the same level of benefits.

²Medicare Advantage plans cap the yearly amount you can spend on cost-sharing by setting out-of-pocket limits. The amount varies by plan. Original Medicare does not have out-of-pocket limits for cost-sharing.

³Medicare Part D plans are modeled on a standard benefit that includes an initial coverage period, a coverage gap, and a catastrophic coverage period; specific cost-sharing requirements vary by plan.

Terms to know

Premium
The amount you pay, usually every month, for your health insurance. This does not count toward your deductible or out-of-pocket maximum.

Deductible
The amount you must pay for healthcare services or prescriptions before your plan starts to pay their portion.

Co-pay
The amount you pay for healthcare services, like a doctor’s visit, hospital outpatient visit, or prescription medicine. A co-pay is usually a set amount, such as $10 or $20, rather than a percentage.

Co-insurance
The amount you pay for healthcare services after you meet your deductible. Services may include a doctor’s visit, hospital outpatient visit, or prescription medicine. Co-insurance is usually a percentage of the cost of the healthcare service (for example, 20%).

4. You can enroll in Medicare during open enrollment

Medicare Part A (Hospital insurance)

Medicare Part A + Medicare Part B are called “Original Medicare.”

What does Part A cover?

Medicare Part A helps cover:

- ✓ Drugs you get during an inpatient hospital or nursing home stay, and drugs for pain relief and symptoms in hospice
- ✓ Inpatient hospital care
- ✓ Nursing home care
- ✓ End-of-life care in hospice
- ✓ Certain home health services

To learn more about what Medicare Part A covers, visit:
medicare.gov/what-medicare-covers/what-part-a-covers

What do I need to pay for Part A?

Premium

Medicare Part A is premium-free if you or your spouse paid into Social Security (FICA taxes), usually for 40 quarters. If you are not eligible for premium-free Part A, you can buy it.

To learn more about Medicare quarters (or credits), visit:

ssa.gov/benefits/retirement/planner/credits.html

Deductible and out-of-pocket costs

In general, you must meet a deductible for each benefit period before Medicare begins to pay its share. For stays beyond a certain number of days, you will then pay a daily co-pay.

If you have Medigap (Medicare Supplement Insurance), it may help pay the deductible and co-pay.

What to consider about cost

If you choose Original Medicare, consider how you will pay for the costs that Medicare does not cover:

- You may decide to pay the out-of-pocket costs (deductible and co-insurance) yourself
- You may choose to buy a Medigap plan (See “Medicare Supplement Insurance: Getting Started” in the Resources section)
- Or you may also be eligible for Medicaid as a secondary payer if you qualify based on low income and limited assets. If you are “dually eligible,” you will normally have very low or zero out-of-pocket costs

Medicare Part A (Hospital insurance) (cont'd)

How do I sign up for Part A?

Some people get Part A automatically and some will need to sign up for it. To avoid coverage delays, the best time to enroll is within the 3 months before your 65th birthday. Keep in mind that most people do not need to pay a premium for Medicare Part A.

As you near Medicare eligibility, consider whether you should enroll in Original Medicare (Part A and Part B) or a Medicare Advantage plan.

For help choosing the best Medicare option for you, read our “Open Enrollment Guide for Patients” at JNJwithMe.com/OpenEnrollment.

Medicare Part B (Medical insurance)

Medicare Part A + Medicare Part B are called “Original Medicare.”

What does Part B cover?

Medicare Part B helps cover:

- ✓ Doctor visits
- ✓ Healthcare provider services
- ✓ Outpatient hospital care and treatment (when you are not admitted to the hospital)
- ✓ Drugs given to you by your doctor, such as an infusion (for drugs you take on your own, Medicare Part D or other prescription drug plans may provide coverage)
- ✓ Certain preventive services
- ✓ Outpatient mental health services
- ✓ Outpatient surgery center care
- ✓ Lab tests
- ✓ Certain home health services
- ✓ Emergency department services
- ✓ Durable medical equipment

Part B generally does not cover dental, vision, hearing, or custodial care (dressing, bathing, feeding).

What do I need to pay for Part B?

Premium

You will pay a monthly premium, based on your income. If you make above a certain income level, you will pay a higher premium.

Deductible and out-of-pocket costs

In general, you must meet a deductible before Medicare begins to pay its share. Then, you typically pay 20% co-insurance of the Medicare-approved amount, while Medicare pays 80%. The percentage can vary by service.

If you have Medigap (Medicare Supplement Insurance), it may help pay the deductible and co-insurance amounts.

What to consider about cost

If you choose Original Medicare, consider how you will pay for the costs that Medicare does not cover:

- You may decide to pay the out-of-pocket costs (deductible and co-insurance) yourself
- You may choose to buy a Medigap plan (See “Medicare Supplement Insurance: Getting Started” in the Resources section)
- Or you may also be eligible for Medicaid as a secondary payer if you qualify based on low income and limited assets. If you are “dually eligible,” you will normally have very low or zero out-of-pocket costs

Medicare Part B (Medical insurance) (cont'd)

How do I sign up for Part B?

The best time to enroll in Part B is when you are first eligible (Initial Enrollment Period). You can also sign up later but may have to pay a late enrollment penalty.

When you sign up for Part B, a 6-month Medigap Open Enrollment Period begins. After 6 months, your options to buy Medigap may be limited and it may cost more.

As you near Medicare eligibility, consider whether you should enroll in Original Medicare (Part A and Part B) or a Medicare Advantage plan.

Medigap (Medicare Supplement Insurance)

Medigap is private health insurance that can help pay some of the costs (“gaps”) that Original Medicare does not cover.

Medigap is also called “Medicare Supplement Insurance” because it adds to or “supplements” your Original Medicare benefits. To buy a Medigap plan, you must already have Original Medicare (Part A + Part B). A Medigap plan only covers one person.

What does Medigap cover?

There are several Medigap plans to choose from, and each has different benefits and coverage.

Medicare Part B helps cover:

- ✓ Your Part A deductible, co-insurance, co-pays, and additional hospital days
- ✓ Your Part B co-insurance (Some Medigap plans cover 100% of Part B co-insurance costs)
- ✓ Drugs covered under Part B
- ✓ Some services not covered by Original Medicare, such as medical care outside of the US

Medigap does not cover costs related to Medicare Part D or Medicare Advantage.

Medigap generally does not cover:

- Long-term care
- Vision or dental services
- Hearing aids and eyeglasses
- Private-duty nursing

What do I need to pay for Medigap?

Premium

You will pay a monthly premium for Medigap in addition to your Part B premium. The cost of a Medigap plan can vary by type of plan or insurance.

How do I sign up for Medigap?

There may be multiple times you can sign up for Medigap:

- The best time to buy a Medigap plan is within 6 months of enrolling in Medicare Part B
- You may also choose a Medigap plan at the end of each year during the open enrollment period
- In some cases, you might be able to buy a Medigap plan outside of your open enrollment period, but there may be limits (only certain plans) or requirements (waiting periods or higher costs)

Medigap (Medicare Supplement Insurance) (cont'd)

How to pick the best Medigap plan for you

1. Think about your current and possible future health needs, and what benefits will be the most helpful. For example, if you need help with out-of-pocket costs, which plan will cover enough for you?
2. Find out which insurance companies sell Medigap plans in your state. See “Find a Medigap policy that works for you” or “State Health Insurance Assistance Programs (SHIPs)” in the Resources section.
3. Once you find some plans you’re interested in, call the insurance companies that sell the plans and ask your questions and compare costs.
4. Once you choose a plan, call the insurance company for a clearly worded summary of the plan and the date it will start.
5. Buy the plan if it is right for you.

Medicare Advantage (Part C)

Medicare Advantage is an alternative to Original Medicare. It is also called “Part C” or “MA Plans.”

Medicare Advantage plans are offered by private insurance companies that are approved by Medicare. If you join a Medicare Advantage plan, you will still have Medicare. But, you will get Part A and Part B coverage from a private insurance company, not from Original Medicare.

Medicare Advantage plans may also:

- Include prescription coverage (called MA-PD)
- Offer extra benefits that are not offered under Original Medicare

Compare Medicare Advantage and Original Medicare on page 4 of this guide.

What does Medicare Advantage cover?

Medicare Advantage may help cover:

- ✓ The same services as Medicare Part A (Hospital Insurance) and Medicare Part B (Medical Insurance)
- ✓ Vision, dental, hearing, and other services
- ✓ Often includes a prescription drug plan (MA-PD)

MA plans with prescription drug coverage cover:

- ✓ Drugs that you give to yourself or that a caregiver gives to you
- ✓ Some drugs given to you by your doctor, such as an injection

If a Medicare Advantage plan does not have prescription drug coverage, you may be able to add drug coverage.

What do I need to pay for Medicare Advantage?

Premium

You will usually pay a monthly premium for a Medicare Advantage plan, plus the premium for Part B. You must have Part B and keep paying your Part B premium to stay in your Medicare Advantage plan.

Deductible and out-of-pocket costs

Each Medicare Advantage plan has different:

- Deductibles
- Co-pays
- Co-insurance
- Rules for how you get services, for example, you may need a referral to see a specialist

Most Medicare Advantage plans have an out-of-pocket limit on the costs you pay for covered health services. Once you reach this limit, the plan pays 100% of your covered health services for the rest of the calendar year.

You cannot buy a Medigap plan to cover your out-of-pocket costs when you enroll in a Medicare Advantage Plan.

Medicare Advantage (Part C) (cont'd)

How do I sign up for Medicare Advantage?

In order to join a Medicare Advantage plan, you must first be enrolled in Medicare Part A and Part B, and live in the plan's service area.

There are two times you can sign up for Medicare Advantage plans:

- When you first become eligible for Medicare
- Or you can enroll or switch Medicare Advantage plans at certain times of the year and under certain circumstances

What if I want to switch from Original Medicare to Medicare Advantage?

If you switch from Original Medicare with a Medigap plan to a Medicare Advantage plan, you can no longer use Medigap to cover expenses. If you drop your Medigap policy, there are only certain conditions where you may be able to get it back.

To learn when you can join, switch, or drop Medicare Advantage plans and how Medigap may be affected, see: “Medicare & You Handbook” and “Understanding Medicare Advantage Plans” in the Resources section, or call Medicare directly at 1-800-MEDICARE (1-800-633-4227); TTY users: 1-877-486-2048.

How to pick the best Medicare Advantage plan for you

There are different types of Medicare Advantage plans that require you to meet certain criteria, such as:

- Health Maintenance Organization (HMO) plans
- Preferred Provider Organization (PPO) plans
- Special Needs Plans (SNPs)

To help find the best Medicare Advantage plan for you:

1. Review your current and expected health needs.
2. Compare the different types of plans to find what best fits your needs.
3. Make sure you understand how a plan works and what it will cost before you join – to learn more, you can call any Medicare Advantage plan and ask for a Summary of Benefits document.

To learn about the different plan types and comparing the costs and benefits, see “Medicare & You Handbook”, “Medicare Plan Finder”, and “State Health Insurance Assistance Programs (SHIPs)” in the Resources section.

Medicare Part D (Prescription drug plan)

Part D is optional prescription drug coverage available to anyone with Medicare.

This is coverage you can add to your other Medicare coverage. These plans are from private companies that are approved by Medicare. They must meet guidelines and minimum coverage standards set by the Federal Government.

What does Part D cover?

Medicare Part D helps pay for:

- ✓ Prescription brand-name and generic drugs that you take yourself
- ✓ Some drugs given to you by your doctor, like vaccines or injections (infusions are usually covered by Part B)

In general, Part D does not cover over-the-counter drugs. Also, most Part D plans exclude certain prescription drug categories, such as weight loss or sleep aid drugs.

New! Your out-of-pocket costs will be capped at $2,000 in total for branded and generic Part D medicines. For 2025, the Coverage Gap has been eliminated.

Medicare Prescription Payment Plan

New! Instead of paying large, up-front costs for Part D medicines, you can now enroll in a monthly payment plan to spread out your out-of-pocket expenses over the year.

If you have high prescription costs early in the year, this plan could benefit you.

For more details or to enroll, visit your prescription drug plan's website or call member services.

What do I need to pay for Part D?

Premium

You will pay a monthly premium, which varies by plan. If you make above a certain income level, you may have to pay the premium plus an extra amount.

Phases of prescription drug coverage

The amount you pay in out-of-pocket costs can change throughout the year.

Phase 1

Deductible

This is the amount you must pay before your plan begins to pay its share of your covered drugs. You pay between $0 and $590,¹ depending on your plan.

Phase 2

Standard benefit

For each prescription, you will have a co-pay or pay a portion (co-insurance) of the cost of your medicine, depending on your plan.

Phase 3

Catastrophic coverage

New for 2025

Once your total prescription medicine costs reach $2,000, you'll automatically get "catastrophic coverage."

You will pay $0 for your covered prescription medicines for the rest of the calendar year.

Check your Explanation of Benefits each month to know when you will move from one phase of coverage to the next. Not everyone will move through all 3 phases.

Medicare Part D (Prescription drug plan) (cont'd)

How do I sign up for Part D?

- If you have Medicare Part A and/or Part B, you can join a Medicare prescription drug plan
- If you have Medicare Advantage (Part C), you can join an MA-PD (Medicare Advantage plan that includes Medicare Part D prescription drug coverage)

In both cases, you must live in the plan's service area.

The best time to join a Part D plan is when you are first eligible for Medicare. You may pay a late fee if you choose to join later. There are two times you can sign up for drug coverage through Medicare:

- You can enroll when you first become eligible for Medicare
- Or you can enroll or switch plans at certain times of the year and under specific circumstances

If you switch from an MA-PD Plan to Original Medicare, you will have a chance to add a Medicare prescription drug plan.

Look for plans in your area that include your drugs on their covered list (formulary).

Then, compare the plans for:

- Costs – what would be your monthly premium, deductible, co-pay, and co-insurance?
- Coverage rules – does the plan cover your medicines without any restrictions?
- Convenience – are the plan's pharmacies close by, or do they have a mail-order prescription program?

- There is no interest or additional fees

Extra Help (Low-Income Subsidy)

Helps pay for Medicare Prescription Drug Plan (Part D) costs

Including premiums, deductible, co-insurance, and co-pays

What is Medicare Extra Help? Medicare patients can qualify for Extra Help (also called Low-Income Subsidy, or LIS) with their Medicare prescription drug plan costs. To qualify, a person must be enrolled in Medicare Part D and have both limited resources and limited income. You may qualify if your annual income is below 150% of the federal poverty level and you meet the resource requirements. You should look into the Extra Help program whenever you update your Medicare Plan, especially if your income has recently changed. Consider independent foundations:

There are foundations that offer help with out-of-pocket costs for prescription drugs if you are having trouble paying for the medicines you need.

Keep in mind:

- These foundations have their own rules for eligibility, which may be subject to change
- Foundations are usually set up to support specific conditions

Funding varies over time – if it’s not available at first, check back to see if it has changed.
